Des-Case Corporation welcomes addition to sales force

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Des-Case Corporation, a leading manufacturer of contamination control products, is pleased to welcome Kevin Spiller to the sales team.

Spiller joins the company as a key account manager, bringing sales experience from the lubricant market. Prior to joining Des-Case, he was most recently employed with ESAB Welding and Cutting in Florence, S.C. as a territory sales manager. He also has worked as a technical sales representative for Parman Lubricants in Nashville, Tenn. A graduate of Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tenn., Kevin holds a bachelor's degree in marketing and is a Certified Lubrication Specialist.

“We are glad to have Kevin join the Des-Case family,” said Trigg Minnick, director of sales. “His industry experience and great attitude make him an instant asset to our entire organization. We know he will be great for our customers and great for our company.”

Des-Case Corporation specializes in contamination control products for industrial lubricants. Headquartered near Nashville, TN, the privately held company markets an entire line of products designed to help companies make their equipment investments last longer. They distribute Des-Case®, Hydroguard®, VentGuard™, FlowGuard™, DoublePlay™, and TriplePlay™ branded solutions through an extensive distribution network, OEM's and private label partners. The company's products feature designs unparalleled in the marketplace and are used wherever lubricant life and performance are essential to daily operations.
